

Editor's Note

On November 7-8, and 14-15, 2015, Drs. Bernard C. C. Li, Maria Cheng, Gale S. Cohen, and I conducted a Primary Certificate Workshop on Logic-Based Therapy (LBT) in Taipei Taiwan. Represented were trainees from Taiwan, China, and Hong Kong. The four papers that are published in this symposium have been translated from Chinese into English. They have been written as part of the requirement for Primary Certification in Logic-Based Therapy. Like those published in Vol. 3, No. 2 (2014) of this Journal, these papers demonstrate the ability of LBT to work across cultures, East and West. They also include large extracts of actual dialog that ensued between the trainees and their clients. Finally, the papers illustrate the latest six-step version of LBT.

Elliot D. Cohen, Ph.D.

Editor, IJPP and

Executive Director, NPCA